

God's Love Letter to Me.

My Beloved Child,

Open your heart to me, listen to my voice and allow it to sink into the very depth of your being. Hold out your hand, allow me to take hold of you; I will never let you go, if you agree. I am perfect love, I cannot let go, I bought you with the priceless blood of my Son. I know your comings and goings. I have named you by the gifting I have given you. I have called you to work with me, to use that gifting to bring about change in my world. What I have begun I will finish and with your 'yes' we will work together. Believe, have Faith, even when things seem dim and distant. Faith is based on what is hoped for but not seen. My hopes and dreams for you will never change.

In every season there is winter, many are feeling this in so many ways just now, but it will not last forever, it is always followed by springtime and life arises from death. Harden not your heart. (Heb. 4: 7)

I am watering you with my love, softening your heart, absorb me into yourself. My Word created you, dreamed of you and who you are, my Word does not return to me without accomplishing what it was sent out to do. (Is. 55: 10 - 12)

Open yourself to me today and you will be amazed at how your house will stand firm, built on a rock. (Mtt. 7: 24)

Let nothing stand between us, nothing hidden, my love and forgiveness are eternal and I bring nothing back to mind. (Jer. 50: 20)

You are my chosen one, unique, do not compare yourself to others, this is no benefit you on your journey with me. Whatever you attain, or do not, I cannot love you more than I do now and always will.

You are the apple of my eye; (Zech. 2: 8) you are the centre of what I see and my eyes never close, I never slumber, or sleep. (Ps 121: 4)

Being with you is my greatest joy. You are dripping with the rain of my presence; my glory surrounds you, the light of heaven is dancing in beams of sunlight on your head. New growth is beginning in your life. Do not base your views on your own perception. Believe in me. I am making all things new. I take away all doubt and fear and I bring you promise, praise and gratitude, for all you are and for what you can become.

My love and mercy enfold you. Draw near to me my beloved child; I am calling the new you to emerge. Come let us walk together, dream and create together- will you come?

- Reflect, pray, chat with God.
- What is my reaction?
- Where was I before I heard this? Where am I now?
- Where do I long to be? How will I get there? Who or what will help me?

Pat Kennedy MPS