Notes

These recordings were made at Prayer Group Meetings, locally at St. Mary's Cathedral Newcastle upon Tyne and St. Peter & Paul Longbenton, and at other UK venues listed, over a twenty year period.

Technical issues with the varied equipment used in different places at different times mean they are not all of equal quality. Some recordings have deteriorated over time and cannot be transposed successfully. Others have required considerable editing to render them clear enough to publish. Some are as clear now as they were the day they were recorded. It is hoped that this re-issued collection will better withstand the passage of time .

Fr. Conaty was a much sought after speaker, people found his talks imbued with a highly charged presence which made the content of his talks come alive in a most remarkable way. He was widely read and paid keen attention to the events of daily life, for he was always aware of the presence of God and he looked for it. This resulted in careful preparation for his talks, with very relevant support from Scripture and writings of the saints. Every talk contained anecdotes, some recalled beforehand in preparation, others suddenly remembered as the talk progressed, but they grounded his message among real people and the events in their lives. His memory was astonishing, his recall even more so, and this approach made his talks dramatic, amusing and always memorable.

He sought to make the point of his talk clear at the outset. He tried to emphasise what he thought was the most important aspect of his subject in terms that would be clearly understood by his audience. There was no disguising his zeal for the Lord, and he did his best to encourage others along that path. These talks show his efforts at a progressive campaign of instruction for those who were serious about their own spiritual journey.

He shepherded them well, and will be remembered for that with gratitude, affection, and their continuing prayers for him and for the community of saints he urged so many to join in their journey to the Father.

It has been a privilege to edit these recordings and listen to so many hours of sincere Christian witness from a friend who lived out everything he taught with faithful commitment, compassion and wisdom.
